

Sierra Club President Mair Visits San Diego To Celebrate 60th Anniversary of Wilderness Basics Course

By Karenlee Robinson

This year the San Diego Sierra Club's Wilderness Basics Course (WBC) celebrates its 60th anniversary of educating San Diegans how to be safe and comfortable hiking and backpacking. Every year over 300 people, ages 18 to 75, have experienced the 10-week course in how to safely and easily enjoy the wildness. Consistently students say the course has changed their lives opening a whole new ability to connect to the great outdoors.

To commemorate San Diego Sierra Club's achievement, Sierra Club President Aaron Mair made a special appearance at the WBC's March 8th class. Mair set a high bar for all of us involved with environmental advocacy with the message of the need for

"Celebrating Partnerships"

Sierra Club San Diego will host its annual Gala Awards Celebration to recognize and commemorate the achievements of community organizations, leaders and Sierra Club volunteers who have contributed their time and effort to protect the environment of our region. The event will be held on Saturday, June 11, 2016 at the Hilton Harbor Island Hotel at 6pm – 9:30pm. The event will include a reception from 6pm to 7pm, a silent auction, and dinner and awards program from 7pm to 9:30pm.

This year's celebration will also recognize the 60th anniversary of the Chapter's Wilderness Basic Course. In 1957, the then 9 year old San Diego Chapter, created the Mountaineering Course. The course taught basic rock climbing, backpacking, alpine camping and hiking skills. Now known as the Wilderness Basic Course, this course has grown from a beginning enrollment of 30 to over 450 students annually who are taught how to experience the remote beauty of the wilderness with intelligence and confidence.

The Gala Awards Celebration brings together Sierra Club members and supporters, community activists, elected officials and dignitaries to celebrate the special nature of San Diego and Imperial County and to raise funds for Sierra Club San Diego programs that help protect the region's environment.

This year's theme is "Celebrating Partnerships". The Sierra Club is not alone in fighting for the betterment of our environment. We stand together with other outstanding organizations that educate, advocate and make significant contributions to insuring San Diego's treasured environment is enhanced and protected. The Gala will include the presentation of the Club's FEAT (Friendly Environmental

The View from the Chair

Davin Widgerow

Hello Sierra Club San Diego! Welcome to our first newly-formatted HiSierran! We are excited about the look and feel of the newly-redesigned newsletter, and we hope you enjoy it too.

2016 began on a good note for the chapter. Our finances are in order, and we ended 2015 with a number of significant accomplishments, including helping to win passage of the City of San Diego's Climate Action Plan, our victory in our litigation against the County regarding their deficient Climate Action Plan, the reinstatement of our internship program and the Political Committee, progress on the rebuilding of Foster Lodge cabin, and many others.

We are excited about what's in store for 2016. This year is the 60th anniversary of our signature outdoors program, the Wilderness Basic Course (WBC). WBC is the cornerstone of our efforts to spread the gospel of the wilderness, and it is easily our most vibrant, diverse, and successful program. We will be celebrating WBC's 60th anniversary all year, including at our annual Gala in June. Additionally, we are hoping to expand our outreach and membership activities this year, and are considering seasonal picnics, membership socials, youth events, and a summer Whale Watch trip, among others. Of course, these activities will supplement our already-popular programs such as the bus trips, chapter trips, the Sierra Talks events, Movie Nights, and our monthly and annual outings offerings.

The chapter also began the year with a reorganization of the chapter leadership. 2016 marks the halfway point in the Steering Committee's mandatory term of office, and a number of the Committee members concluded that it was time to shake up the dynamic and provide space for new blood on the Committee. The Committee herein expresses our tremendous gratitude to Debbie Hecht, Joe Zechman, and Nick Ervin for their incalculable efforts to revive and restore this chapter, and wishes them only the very best for the future. It is not easy being on the Steering Committee, and we salute Debbie, Joe, and Nick for their service to the chapter. The remaining members of the Steering Committee are Karenlee Robinson, Paul Webb, and Davin Widgerow. The search process is underway to fill the vacancies on the Committee, and expect to have new Committee members to introduce in April 2016.

Thank you for all you do for our chapter and the environment in San Diego and Imperial Counties! We are always in need of volunteers of every stripe and for every sort of project and activity, so please don't hesitate to contact us to explore how you can help the chapter move forward. Of course, I am always available at dwidgerow@sierrasd.org. Here's to a successful, robust, and exciting 2016!

*Davin Widgerow, Chair –
Steering Committee*

Election 2016

All Politics is Local

By Brian Elliot, Political Committee Chair

All politics is local. We hear that time and time again, year after year. But here we are in an election year, and all the news is about the presidential race. While determining our next president is critical, we too often get swept up in national politics and neglect to consider San Diego races.

There are several major environmental issues at stake this year. Our next President will have to weigh in on the Clean Power Plan, the future of the Keystone XL Pipeline, and renewable energy incentives. However, the next President will not directly decide the future of the city of San Diego's Climate Action Plan, funding for our local transportation system, or our conservation efforts throughout the county. All of these decisions will be made right here in San Diego.

As the incoming chair for our Political Committee, I'm fortunate to work with a group of dedicated members, who appreciate the impact local leadership has on our environment. Sierra Club's mission transcends all levels of government. While we are monitoring issues like the Land and Water Conservation Fund, nationally, we cannot neglect the importance of open space preservation or water-use reductions here at home. We need a local voice in the decisions that affect our water resources, air quality, and greenhouse gas emissions.

That local voice starts with Sierra Club's members and is amplified to our elected officials through the Political Committee. Our committee is dedicated to identifying the environmental priorities throughout the county and being a unified and powerful regional advocate. Local elected officials and candidates recognize us as a collective voice representing a large constituency of the county. It is because of our broad reach and expertise that they have continued to seek our endorsement and our opinion on environmental issues over the years. Since the beginning of the year, the Committee has been busy conducting candidate interviews. Our recommendations can be found in our 2016 Voter Guide on our Political Committee website at <http://sandigosierraclub.org/get-involved/political>.

During this election season our Political Committee will remain focused on San Diego's issues. I invite our chapter's membership to share their concerns and aspirations, and we will ensure that these priorities are reflected in the candidates chosen for endorsement this year. We welcome you to share your thoughts in person and join us at our monthly meetings. Your involvement helps Sierra Club San Diego remains a trusted voice for conservation and climate change mitigation, nationally and most importantly, in San Diego.

Please, Vote in June!

By Sarah Fields, Political Committee Secretary

We are so fortunate to live in the great state of California. As Sierra Club members, we know we live in a place full of tremendous natural resources and a vast array of stunning outdoor experiences. California is also a state not following the disturbing trend of making voting harder to access. Last year, local Assemblywoman Lorena Gonzalez authored and Governor Brown signed into law, Motor-Voter legislation to automatically register eligible Californians to vote when they apply for a Driver's license. While this is a step in the right direction for California, as an advocacy organization we have an obligation to further educate ourselves and the electorate.

Did you know that many of our local elections will be decided in June? But what of November, you might be asking yourself right about now. Voting in November is essential, but voting in June should be given equal footing in our civically engaged minds. We need to start familiarizing ourselves and our communities on the importance of the June (Primary) Election. Our election laws allow for the top two candidates in a race, regardless of party affiliation, to advance to the general election. EXCEPT when one candidate receives more than 50% of the vote in the primary, in which case the race is then over in June and that candidate has won outright.

Think June doesn't matter? Current District 7 City Councilmember, Scott Sherman won his seat in June of 2012 with 50.1% of the vote or just over 50 votes, to avoid the November General Election. Conversely, Sherman's colleague by the coast, District 1 Councilmember Sherri Lightner did not have the most votes in the June 2012 primary, but advanced as the second place winner to the November General Election with no one candidate receiving a plurality of votes. She then went on to win in November.

The June primary is incredibly important here in San Diego and so much of what Sierra Club members' value depends on our participation. Your next city councilmember could very well be selected then! Whether it's a candidate, proposition or referendum, Sierra Club San Diego is an incredibly influential voting bloc, when, and only when we all vote. Please, make it to the ballot box twice this year to cast your vote.

To confirm or update your voter registration, please visit the San Diego Registrar of Voters (www.sdvote.com). You must register to vote 15 days prior to an election to participate. Official mail ballot packets are sent between the 29th day and the 7th day before the election.

Our Volunteer Award Winners

- Rookie Activist of the Year – Siyuan Liu and Alejandro (Ale) Montes.

Mike Fry. The Lifetime Achievement Award honors an individual who has provided distinguished service to Sierra Club San Diego for a significant period of time. It is these types of individuals who have given their life time experiences and leadership to make the Sierra Club the best that it can be. Joe most recently served two years on the Chapter Steering Committee and served on the Chapter Executive Committee for six years, twice as Chapter Chair. Joe was active in the Sierra Singles (now the Sierra Social) Section and served on numerous Chapter committees and task forces in leadership positions.

Movie: THE WORLD ACCORDING TO MONSANTO
1 Hour 49 Minutes

Monsanto's controversial past combines some of the most toxic products ever sold with misleading reports, pressure tactics, collusion and attempted corruption. They now race to genetically engineer (and patent) the world's food supply, which profoundly threatens our health, environment and economy. Combining secret documents with first-hand accounts by victims, scientists, and politicians, this widely praised film exposes why Monsanto has become the world's poster child for malignant corporate influence in government and technology.

Movie: WHO BOMBED JUDI BARI?
1 Hour 33 Minutes

Winner of Best Documentary awards at five 2012 film festivals and praised by actors Peter Coyote and Ed Asner and by political activist Tom Hayden, this film, told with humor and wit, is a moving tribute to environmental activist Judi Bari and her heroic struggle to save the redwoods. The producer, Darryl Cherney, also examines the events surrounding the 1990 car bombing that injured him and Judi Bari, and makes a clear case (later upheld in court) that the police and the FBI falsified evidence in order to discredit Bari's cause.

Have you ever wondered why hundreds of leopard sharks gather at one particular spot off La Jolla Shores Beach every summer? Join Andy Nosal, a marine biologist who has studied these animals for eight years, to learn the answer! In his talk, Andy will discuss what these leopard sharks are, what they are doing in La Jolla, where exactly they are doing it, and why that spot in particular is so special for these animals.

Park Pushers: How San Diego's Women Enhanced Our Outdoor World

Citizen environmental activists have played key roles in getting many of our parks and preserves. Women in particular have been passionate park pushers, starting many decades ago with two well-known names: Ellen Browning Scripps (Torrey Pines State Reserve) and Kate Sessions (Balboa Park). And women have continued to be strongly active in setting aside natural areas.

Come see the contributions of park settings we can enjoy because of their pursuits and successes including: Marian Bear (San Clemente Canyon), Eloise Battle (Tecolote Canyon), Gemma Parks (San Elijo Lagoon), Diane Nygaard (Carlsbad Calavera Preserve), Dorothy Minshall (Oak Oasis), Yolane Stout, (Back Country Land Trust, several preserves). The presenter, Tom Leech, is author of Outdoors San Diego: Hiking, Biking & Camping.

Blood of the Band: An Ipai Family Story

The Ipai (also known as Kumeyaay) are the native people of northern San Diego County. This presentation illustrates how one Ipai family's remarkable story forms part of the little-known, yet profoundly significant long-term history of human habitation in the land that only recently has come to be known as southern California. Beginning with the ancestors' accounts of the creation of the world that link the Ipai with the unique characteristics of our region's natural world, the journey then goes through the archaeological, historical, ethnographic and contemporary accounts of the dramatic transformations through which the Ipai have persisted and ultimately prospered.

The presenter, David Toler, is a long-time leader of his community and a descendant of the La Chappa, Gauchena and Nejo clans. He has served for many years as a member of the tribal council of the band of the San Pasqual Mission Indians in Valley Center, California. He is also vice-chair of the Kumeyaay Diegueño Land Conservancy, a board member of the Inter-Tribal Court of Southern California, and a member of the Kumeyaay Heritage Preservation Committee.

News from the NORTH COUNTY GROUP SIERRA CLUB • SAN DIEGO

It's been a busy few months for the North County Group. We kicked off the year with 104 eager students enrolled in our Wilderness Basics Course that were ready to learn the skills to prepare them for a lifetime of future backpacking adventures.

As we've gotten to know these students, it turns out they are group with serious backpacking plans, as some are already planning their hikes on the Appalachian Trail, El Camino de Santiago in Spain, and the Pacific Crest Trail.

It was a packed house at our Winter Meeting in February as member and Chapter Outings Leader Karen Landes entertained and educated the group with her experiences hiking the Lost Coast Trail in Northern California. I know she inspired many in the group to put this this spectacular area on their hiking bucket list. There were also presentations about the volunteer opportunities at the San Dieguito River Park, the Escondido Creek Conservancy and I Love a Clean San Diego. These organizations could not exist without volunteers assisting with habitat restoration, trail, creek, and beach clean-ups, and as docents and interpretive guides. It is our hope that these presentations serve to educate and motivate people to help out.

In March, a group of North County

Group members and WBC students joined with other conservation volunteers in a habitat restoration project in the San Dieguito River Park, planting native plant species on Bernardo Mountain near Lake Hodges. In less than 3 hours this energetic group planted 500 natives, a mixture of white sage and bladderpod. The restoration of Bernardo Mountain will provide wildlife habitat that is essential to many endangered species like the California gnatcatcher and coastal cactus wren.

Sierra Club Bicycle Section Joins Clean-up Effort

Anyone who has ridden the Rose Creek Bike-and-Pedestrian Path knows that it is frequently riddled with debris and trash generated by the homeless who camp there. In addition to the bike path trash, there is widespread vegetation in the stream bed along the portion of the creek between East Mission Bay Drive and the Garnet Avenue bridge. These man-made and natural obstructions inhibit the flow of Rose Creek into Mission Bay. The San Diego County Bicycle Coalition in collaboration with the Sierra Club Bicycle Section is trying to do something about the unhealthy conditions there.

The Bicycle Coalition is working with the City of San Diego to secure regular maintenance of the Rose Creek Bike Path incorporated into the next City Budget. In the meantime, the Bicycle Coalition is partnering with the City to sponsor a cleanup on Saturday morning, April 23. The Coalition will supply the man (and woman) power; the City will supply the equipment and provide for removal of the trash. All Sierra Club members are encouraged to participate. You can help to clean up this important environmentally sensitive area.

Go Solar With Sungevity And The Sierra Club

When you go solar with the Sierra Club and Sungevity, you will receive a special $750 discount and Sungevity will send the Sierra Club $750 to protect local wildlife and wild lands, keep our air and water clean, and move us toward a clean energy future.

10 Reasons to Bag the Plastic Bag

Every time you use a single-use plastic bag, it has an impact; and when you add up all of the bags used over the course of a week, a month and even a year, a simple decision like what type of grocery bag to use can have a major impact.

By the Numbers

1. Californians use almost 13.8 billion bags each year.
2. San Diegans use 500 million bags each year and 95% of those end up in our landfills.
3. Less than 5 percent of plastic bags are recycled statewide.
4. Public agencies in California spend over $300 million on coastal litter clean-up per year.

Bad for the Environment

5. Plastic bags are the debris most likely to fly away from landfills, settling instead in trees, storm drains, beaches, and the ocean.
6. Plastic bags linger in our lakes, rivers, oceans and landfills for 400 to 1000 years.
7. The average reusable bag has the lifespan of over seven hundred single-use plastic bags.
8. Over a lifetime, use of reusable bags by just one person would save over 22,000 plastic bags.

Think paper bags are better?

9. The United States cuts down 14 million trees per year to supply the demand for paper shopping bags.
10. Paper bags weigh nearly ten times as much as plastic bags, requiring more fuel to ship them out to stores and increasing Green House Gases, a major contributor to climate change. In landfills, paper bags produce over twice as much atmospheric waste as plastic.

diversity and inclusion within the Club, the principles of environmental justice and doing the right thing for all the communities we represent. His message inspires us to work harder, to reach even farther to fulfill the vision of a diverse and representative Club that makes “saving the planet” a meaningful mission for all of us.

After having the opportunity to meet many of the leaders of San Diego Sierra Club and learning a bit about all the varied programs and efforts of the Club, Mair said he wanted to commend “...the Chapter, Groups, leaders, and volunteers for creating a welcoming and open space in your hearts and minds for our Club’s vision and commitment to becoming a powerful diverse multicultural organization.” He said it was “...a great honor to talk to prospective members and using the Wilderness Basic Course gathering to deliver our vision and message.” He added that he was “...proud, supportive and hopeful of the direction that San Diego is moving.”

Two Mountains in Springtime

by Bill Tayler

There's not a bad time to be in the mountains, but surely springtime is one of the best. And so it was that on two weekends in February, we took groups of students from Stephen W. Hawking II STEAM Charter School hiking in the Cuyamaca and Laguna Mountains.

On February 20, we took 11 students to the top of Stonewall Peak. For most of them, this was their first hike to the top of a mountain, and they soon learned that hiking uphill at altitude can be challenging. A few rest breaks were needed, so along the way we stopped to climb on rocks, listen to some crows, and watch the woodpeckers. At the top, the views stretched from the Salton Sea, to the snow-capped San Bernardino, and south to Baja. It was one of those days that makes the effort of getting to the top well worthwhile.

The following Saturday, we took 13 students hiking along the Sunset Trail to Laguna Meadows. At the first small lake, we saw several small garter snakes prowling the edges looking for lunch, and were able to catch one to give the kids a chance to hold it. This was the first time that most of them had been able to hold a snake, or even seen one in the wild. After everyone had a chance to see the garter snake up close, the kids enjoyed watching it swim away. As the snake hunted for its lunch, we hiked to a rock outcropping near Big Laguna Lake and had our own lunch before hiking back to the trailhead.

Inspiring Connections Outdoors is a Sierra Club outreach program that provides free wilderness experiences to urban youth, to help them realize the wonders of exploring the outdoors, develop the skills to do it safely, and nurture a desire to protect natural spaces. Architect Selected for Foster Lodge Cabin Rebuild, Hubbell & Hubbell to Design Hubbell & Hubbell Architects has been selected by Sierra Club San Diego to design the new cabin at Foster Lodge. The old cabin, constructed in 1927, was destroyed in July 2013 by the Chariot wildfire.

The new cabin will be of the same approximate size of 1,000 sq ft. It is desired that the new structure include an outside deck, two fully accessible unisex bathroom facilities with at least one wheel chair accessible shower, a host bedroom with an exterior access door, a "Bunkhouse" room, living area with small kitchen, rustic mountain cabin appearance, efficient gas heating, with auxiliary wood/pellet stove or fireplace, energy efficient appliances and fixtures, water efficient plumbing fixtures and be ADA compliant.

Architect Drew Hubbell stated "Having grown up in the mountains of San Diego I have a deep understanding of the unique climate issues found on and around Mt. Laguna. Our firm has worked on over 20 fire rebuild projects after the Cedar & Witch Creek fires including the rebuilding and rehabilitation of four separate Ilan Lael Foundation buildings located on my family property in Wynola. I believe these experiences have a direct relationship to your project and make us very qualified to serve your unique needs in designing and rebuilding the Foster Lodge Cabin."

Since 1995, Hubbell & Hubbell Architects has pushed the boundaries of sustainable design and the use of alternative building materials across the state--being the first firm to permit strawbale structures in San Diego County and the City of San Diego, and was the first firm to meet the County's Green Building program requirements. They are also skilled at creating unique designs with limited budgets and enjoy finding green materials that meet the specific needs of the client and the site. Their extensive experience with historic preservation, green practices, accessibility issues and community engagement will be particularly useful for this project.

Whale Watching

by Bill Tayler

On a beautiful Sunday morning in February, 16 students from America's Finest Charter School in southeast San Diego boarded the Sea Adventure at H&M Landing for a day that none of them will soon forget. These students had been on a number of day hikes and camping trips with San Diego ICO, but most of them had never been on a boat, and none of them had ever seen a whale in the wild before. All that would soon change.

This adventure began a few weeks earlier when I contacted Richard Miller to ask whether I could get a discounted price for three or four students to come on the annual Sierra Club Whale Watch trip. Richard loved the idea of San Diego ICO bringing some kids along on the trip, but he had bigger and better plans. That same day, Richard sent out an email to the chapter membership asking if anyone would like to sponsor a child for the Whale Watch trip. Less than two hours later, Richard told me that he already had sponsors for 12 kids, and that others wanted to sponsor kids too. The swiftness and generosity of this support from our chapter was completely unexpected.

The trip was a resounding success in every possible way. The kids loved the feeling of being on the water, of being connected to the motion of the waves, and being so far from land. On our way out to search for whales, the kids looked out for sea lions and learned about kelp forests. And, of course, a couple got seasick. Along the way, we also passed a lot of plastic bottles and other trash floating on the surface, which prompted some good discussion about how trash tossed in the street often ends up in the ocean. After a short time at sea, we were rewarded with sighting of several California gray whales, and we even sighted a humpback whale close to the boat, which gave the kids a great view of its tail flukes as it dove.

Since the trip, the kids have told me many times how much they enjoyed it, and I know it had a real impact on how they see the ocean. None of this would have been possible without the vision and hard work of Richard Miller, and the generosity of those who sponsored those kids. On behalf of San Diego ICO and the kids, thank you all!
